SPRAGUE ELECTRIC LOG, OCTOBER 22, 1949

Number 5

The Marshall Street water tank is wearing a coat of silver these days with large, black letters spelling out "Sprague Electric Company". We remember when it was black with white letters saying "Arnold Print Works".

Management Club Changes Bylaws

The Management Club has announced a change in its bylaws which will broaden the eligibility for membership.

Heretofore, eligibility was restricted to officers of the Company, plant, division or department heads, foremen, and those who supervise self-contained departments in the production phase of the Company.

Under the new bylaws, this restriction to production only has been eliminated thus granting eligibility to those in all other departments such as Engineering, Purchasing, Accounting, Payroll, Sales, Cost et cetera.

ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Bertrand Peters celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on October 10. Bert works in the Machine Shop.

Company Wins Merit Award

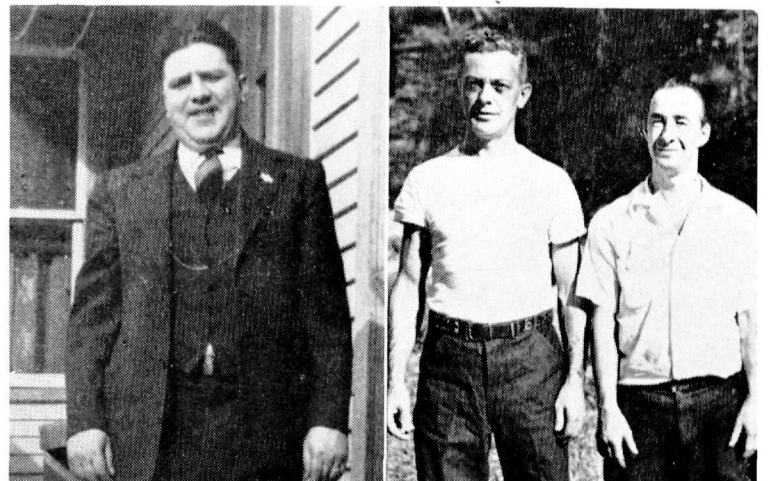

Sprague Electric Company is one of the companies operating plants in Massachusetts to receive a Merit Award for the best financial reports to employees for the year 1949.

The award was presented by Roy Williams, Executive Vice President of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, to Mary Connelly, Sprague Electric LOG Editor, who represented the Company at the presentation ceremonies in Boston on October 18.

This is the second year for this contest which is sponsored by A.I.M. in an effort to encourage better industrial communications. More than three hundred and fifty companies entered the contest this year.

While the LOG played a very minor role in winning the award, we are happy to take a bow in acknowledgment of the honor we were privileged to accept for the Company.

Fishing Contest Winners

John Sullivan of Beaver Street Centrifuge. Ernest Robert of Beaver Street Plating and George Beverly of Beaver Street Centrifuge.

Seven lucky boys and one girl are lining up for the prizes in the Fishing Contest which closed October 1. As it happens, the honors are pretty evenly divided between the three plants which gives all of us a stake in the fun.

The following will receive poles, reels, line, landing nets and other fishing equipment for taking first place in the eligible class competition: NORTHERN PIKE, William Schink

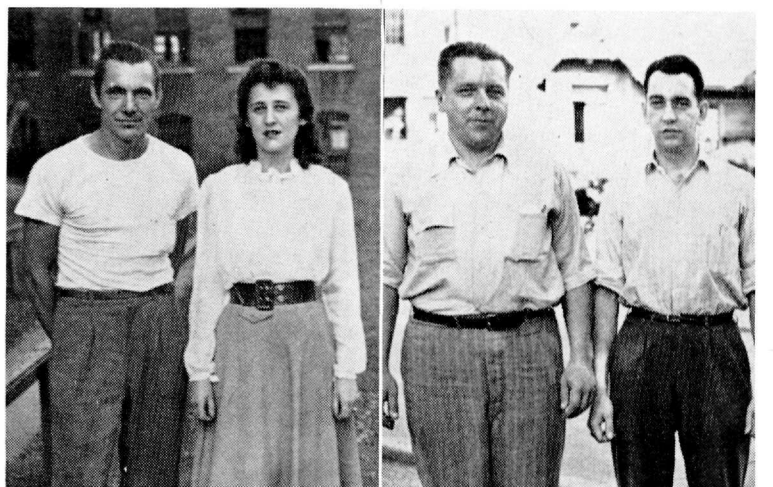

PICKEREL, Edward Pettibone LARGE MOUTH BASS, Helen Jobin NATIVE TROUT, Tommy Dion SMALL MOUTH BASS,

Stanley Bagdon PERCH, John Sullivan BROWN TROUT, George Beverly BULLHEAD, Ernest Robert

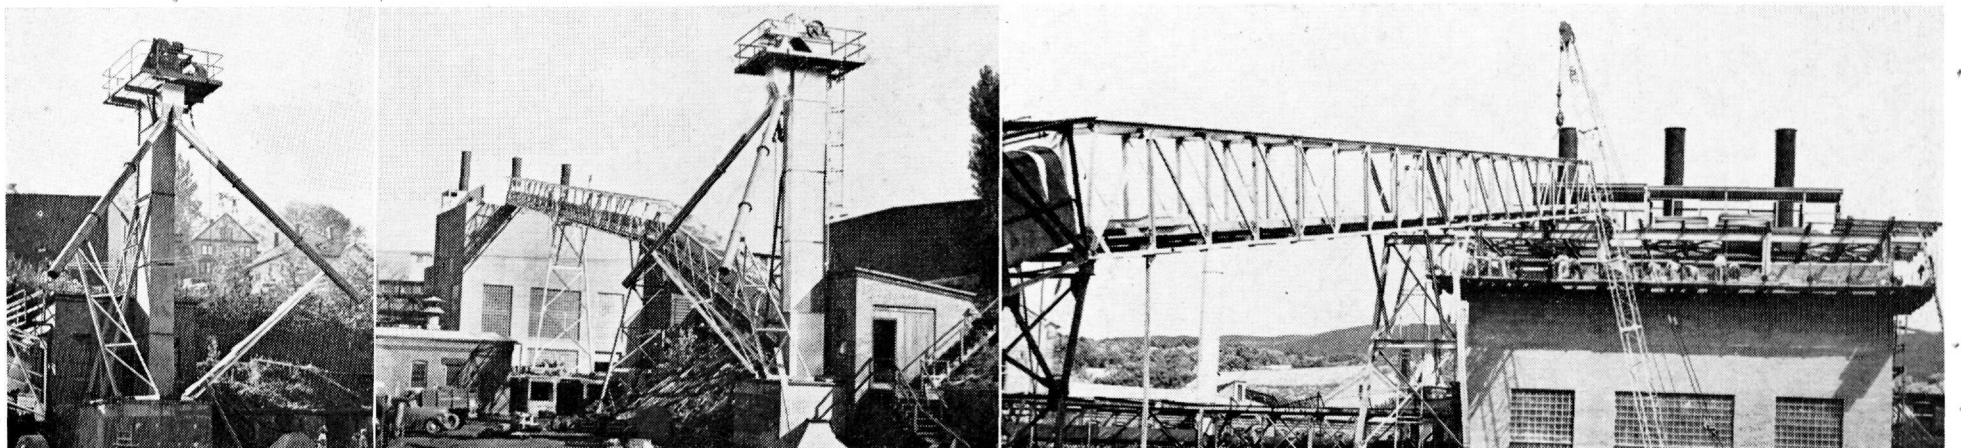

Congratulations to the winners! We hope there will be even more entries when we open next year.

When the North Adams Kiltie Band paraded during the Fall Foliage Festival, it was led by Henry Bratcher (back to camera), husband of Alice, of the Office. The tall piper, center front, is Don Meiklejohn of Methods.

Edward Pettibone of Brown Street Molded Tubulars; Helen Jobin of Brown Street Resistors; William Schink was not available for picture. Stanley Bagdon, Marshall Street Lab; Tommy Dion, Marshall Street Maintenance.

The new coal elevator and conveyor at Marshall Street works in strange ways its wonders to perform. The coal is taken up through the two tubes you see sticking out on the side, into the elevator where it is pulverized, up the conveyor to the top and then dropped into the hopper. From there on out, it becomes energy for production purposes.

BOBBING FOR APPLES

Those of us who have taken part in the typical sport of bobbing for apples at a Halloween party know that the person who goes about it in a deliberate and businesslike manner always comes up with the apple. He also comes in for a great deal of moral support from his audience while he is trying to get the apple in his teeth. Maybe the moral support helps more than his audience realizes.

This year, just one week ahead of Halloween, we celebrate United Nations Day on October 24. Four years ago, the United Nations Charter went into force, thereby dedicating our efforts to world-wide and universal peace. Our delegates and representatives in this organization are men and women well endowed with the mental attributes necessary for accomplishing our purpose. While their demeanor and attitudes are certainly more dignified than those of the man bobbing for apples at a Halloween party, they are literally bobbing for the apple of PEACE. They are going about it with the deliberation and determination of the person who knows what he wants and intends to get. They need our support as thinking people in a thinking nation.

We should remember that the United Nations organization has worked and is continuing to work for world peace; it works for us; it requires our continued support; we can actively help it in our everyday living. If we read about it and think about it, we can lend support enough to make it work. In other words, we can assure ourselves of coming up with the apple of peace in our teeth.

WE CAN LEARN THESE THINGS

Learn to like what doesn't cost much.
Learn to like reading, conversation, music.

Learn to like plain food, plain service, and plain cooking.

Learn to like fields, trees, woods, brooks, hiking, rowing, climbing hills.

Learn to like people even though some of them may be different from you as the Chinese.

Learn to like to work and enjoy the satisfaction of doing your job as well as it can be done.

Learn to like the songs of the birds, the companionship of dogs.

Learn to like gardening; putting around the house, and fixing things.

Learn to like the sunrise and sunset, the beating of rain on the roof and the windows, and the gentle fall of snow on a winter day.

Learn to keep your wants simple, and refuse to be controlled by the likes and dislikes of others.

MISC. PAPER ASSEMBLY

By Ruth Haskins

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brouillet who are the parents of a son born October 5. The young man has been named Nelson Raymond. Father works in Ceramics and mother is Mildred of Misc. Paper Assembly.

It is nice to have our clerk, Doris Charon, back with us.

Alice Wright's oldest son has joined the U. S. Navy and has left for his training.

Speaking of the Navy, Ethel Fosse's son has just enjoyed a fifteen-day leave from his Navy duties.

Cassie (I know it) Gliwski wore a pair of earmuffs the other day. He says it was because Janie Cieplia talks so much.

PAPER IGNITION ASSEMBLY

By Doris Charon

We want to welcome all the new people in our department.

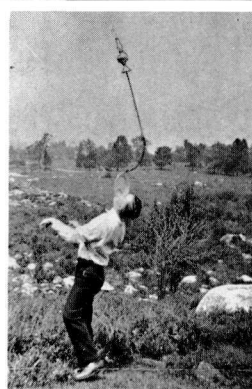

Having a pencil sharpener of your own is quite an asset, Raymond Blair, but we hope you have given it back to your little daughter by this time. She must have missed it.

We are willing to bet that Emma Busby will never ask Marieange Contois to correct a mistake in her crocheting again. Marieange ripped out three inches and all Emma had done was forget to double crochet.

Sophia Embry is very proud these days. She's a grandmother now!

Speaking of hobbies, here we have Felix Chaperon, of Dry Rolling, juggling four plates in the air twenty-five years ago. And then, we see him balancing a plate and a lamp on his nose. That was twenty-five years ago, too, but it is still good.

MISC. PAPER FINISH

By Velma Lincoln

Anniversary greetings go to Mary Zito from the gang.

Catherine Marra visited New York City with the Italian Girls' Club.

Ruth Arrighini is back with us again.

Bertha Jennings and Anna Downey go out for lunch each Friday. What do you know — they got lost in a blind alley and were one hour late!

Stephanie Szurek has had a well dug on her property. Now she can be heard singing "Cool Water".

Adelle Solari and Ruth Arrighini like driving their new cars. Adelle has a new Chevrolet and Ruth a Buick.

Maud Waska certainly loves her two little girls. She has her hands full and she gets angry at times, but she smiles and then you'll hear her say "Oh, what the heck!"

Now, for Elizabeth Kenney. She keeps the room guessing. She was seen taking a man's hat out of her purse. We all thought surely she would bring out the man next. What went wrong, Elizabeth?

Christmas Gift Suggestions

It's time to get our thinking centered toward Christmas if we are going to be among those who can sit back and enjoy the pre-Christmas season. All these attractive gifts can be made for little money and not too much effort. Think of all the pretty things we can have made and tagged before the day actually comes! Directions for making any or all of the items pictured above can be had at the Beaver Street Dispensary for the asking.

Little minds at work: Pete LePage's six-year old son, Peter, thinks it was nice of Columbus to discover America so boys can have a day off from school on Columbus Day.

Lucille Miller's young daughter, Beverly, made a cardboard home for her kittens. In front of the doorway she placed a sign reading, "Don't stand in front of the door because they are too little to read yet."

Helen Burdick's grandson, Bucky, is planning a flight to Santa Claus's house to get a dart set.

Corena Tatro thinks her grandson is very smart. He's so smart that he gets what he wants out of his grandma.

It's a god-given right for man to want to work in order to live respectably. It has never been determined what scale should be used to weigh the good or the bad. Until it is determined, let's live and let's help live.

INDUSTRIAL OIL ROLLING

By Helen Lesure

Well, now that the World Series is over and the queen of the Foliage Festival has been chosen, we can settle down to normalcy. Oh, oh, I spoke too soon. Forget that normalcy business for we see Peg Wohler, Helen Unis, Mamie Sweeney, Ida Manson and Jonesy coming through the door on their return to work. Never mind, girls, we love you all and are glad to see you again. Now, get to work.

Al Giusti took a week off and went to the World Series via television. Anyway, he didn't have to wrestle with a million people.

Millie Moreau, office girl extraordinary, did get to see a Series game and is spending her second week resting up from it. Happy vacation, Millie.

This is a short column this time and I apologize. But I've got a cold to cure so I'm off to the medicine cabinet.

INDUSTRIAL OILS

By Ann Heath

Welcome back, Elva Hurlbut. It's good to see you again.

Nellie Hall is back and feeling well after her illness.

We had a surprise visit from Tom Ferrara the other afternoon. He likes college and is doing a good job of it.

The listeners enjoyed your singing, Bill Sheldon, and hope you are on the air soon again.

Congratulations to Elizabeth Maynard. We hope you have a lot of fun with your new Chevrolet. Some class!

We all wish Helen Unis would snap out of the day dream and come back to us. We miss the old Helen.

All we hear around Industrial Oils is "Let's have a Halloween party." Well, let's go and swing 'em high at the White Oaks. All you boys with sore thumbs had better get the bandages off or you will never get to the party.

NAVY RESISTORS

By Blanche Tatro

Birthday greetings to Bertha Vaughan and Elouise Lewis.

Mary Schubnel is back with us. We hope your stay will be a long one, Mary.

Daisy Allen and Elzina Colo, we hope you like to work with us. We like having you.

Knitting is still going strong at noon. Florina Strange and Yours Truly are knitting socks. Joan Blanchette is making a sweater and Bertha Vaughan is working on cable mittens.

Blanche Tatro has purchased a new Bendix and is "taking in" washing — with a little charge, of course.

News will be a little better now that our girls are coming back — I hope!

RESISTORS

By Chick and Chuck

Bill Pierce is enjoying his annual vacation and Red Czerwinski is enjoying his annual headache.

Lucy Abusi had a good weekend in New York City recently.

Welcome back to all the girls who have returned to the fold.

We extend sincere sympathy to Maude Jones on the loss of her mother and to Florence Toyne.

Joe Moreau spent a weekend in New York at the World Series.

Helen Jobin enjoyed a fishing trip to Lake Champlain the weekend of October 8.

We wonder if Alice Joseph has had time to use the pop-up toaster the gang gave her?

We would like to welcome the new girls on our line. Hope they enjoy working with us.

We wish Johnnie Ghidotti would give us the solution to curly hair, especially those of us with curly hair.

We are glad Bessie Paradis got her license. Be careful, Savoy pedestrians.

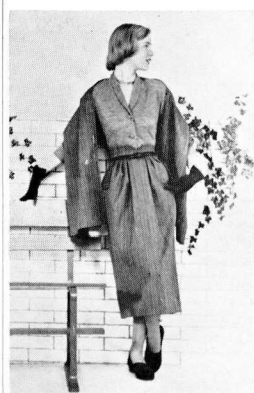

We wish Florence Grew's husband a speedy recovery.

Congratulations to Colleen Phillips on her recent marriage.

APPLE CROP

If we believe the old adage about an apple a day keeping the doctor away, we can all look forward to a winter of health and happiness if we want to take advantage of the large apple crop this year.

The commercial output of apples is expected to reach 130 million bushels before the season ends. That means there will be as many apples as we can possibly use.

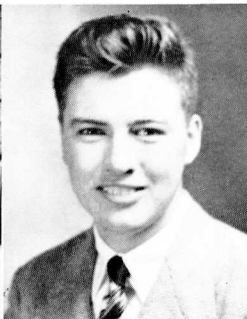

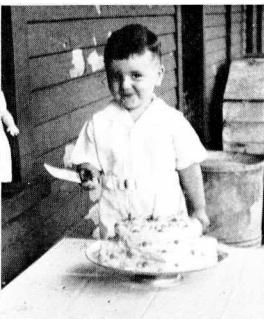

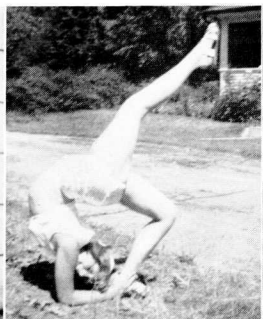

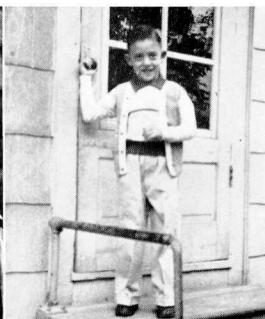

As most housewives know, the apple is among the most adaptable of fruits. They fit into almost any meal in some capacity. For instance, we can use apples in fruit cup or a fruit salad; in a vegetable combination such as cole slaw; in stuffing for pork or poultry; and in many kinds of dessert. We can stew them, fry them or bake them and we can serve them in the fruit bowl — polished.

In preserving, too, there is wide choice. Apples may be canned — as quarters or sauce. They may be frozen or we may make them into butter or jelly.

Delicious apple sauce may be made by this simple recipe: Wash, core and quarter the apples. Add just enough water to keep them from sticking and cook until tender in a covered pan. Put through a colander to remove the skin. Sweeten to taste, add a little lemon juice, a little lemon rind, a wee bit of cinnamon, cloves and ginger and return to the stove for five minutes. Pour into sterilized jars and seal. It will be delicious with pork chops or any other meat during the cold months ahead. Or it will be divine in apple sauce cake.

HALLOWE'EN

Children consider Hallowe'en their very own special occasion. They fly in and out of the house in a high state of excitement. On one of their brief visits greet them with a trayful of cookies and a cheering drink. In this way you may be able to persuade these exuberant children to sit down awhile and take a breathing spell, and also get some nourishment into them! Give them cookies with funny faces, and cat-shaped cookies (or perhaps you will have another idea) to attract and tempt them. Paint a black number 13 on your glasses (easily done with water colors which will wash right off afterward) for another lure in keeping with Hallowe'en.

An idea for your centerpiece on this day is to fill a hollowed-out pumpkin with autumn flowers and leaves. This is a decorative vase and one which you may well use on many other fall occasions.

Use the following recipe for the cookies — the dough is excellent for cutting fancy figures because it holds its shape.

Orange Fancies

- ½ cup shortening
- ¾ cup sugar
- 1 egg
- ½ cup ready-to-eat bran
- 3 cups sifted flour
- 3½ teaspoons baking powder
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup orange juice
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind

Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly. Add egg and beat well. Add bran. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together; add to first mixture alternately with orange juice and rind. Chill. Roll out dough to about ¼ inch thickness, working with a small amount at a time and keeping remainder chilled. Cut with floured round or fancy cookie cutter. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in moderately hot oven (400°F.) 10 to 12 minutes.

Yield: 4 dozen cookies (2¼ inches in diameter).

Decoration Notes: If you don't have a cat-shaped cookie cutter — cut the shape of a cat out of heavy cardboard. Lay the cardboard pieces on the dough and cut around them with a knife.

Raisins and chopped nuts are easily applied on the cookie dough to make Hallowe'en faces.

Miscellaneous Drys

By Ceil Risch

We welcome back to the department: Mary Ziaja, Lillian Bingham, Agnes Fitzgerald and Viola Dempsey.

All the girls in our department have taken up a new hobby. Believe it or not, they are fixing their own flats.

Vi Dempsey thought the sky was going to hit her head when she got into that new convertible. Or were you nodding to someone, Vi?

Of course, everyone has a hobby. Our tester, Mary, is a real football fan.

Here's a conversation she had with a friend the other day:

Friend: Hello, Mary. Mary: Yes, who is this? Friend: Why, can't you recognize my voice? Mary: No, I can't. Friend: Why don't you lower your radio so you can hear me? Mary: I can't. I'm listening to the football game. Friend: Gee, I didn't know you were interested in football. Mary: OH, I'm not. My brother is playing and I want to see how his name sounds over the radio.

High School Football:

Drury fell before Pittsfield High at Noel Field. The final score was 32-6.

Pittsfield was just too big and experienced for Drury who is in the rebuilding stage.

Once again, Drury showed a better second half effort, but trailing by three touchdowns was too much. The powerful plunges of Peronne and the play of Don Morehead sparked the attack, altogether the entire Fox coached eleven proved to be a well knit ball club and should annex the Berkshire County Championship after a long 13 year period lapse.

Ceramics

By Ida Gigliotti

We welcome back Virginia who has just returned from a temporary lay-off.

Greetings are extended to Frank Livesey who is replacing Louise as our check inspector. We hope you will like working with us, Frank. Louise was given a farewell gift by the "gang" and was so surprised and pleased with the travelling bag that she took a short trip around the table just to see how it felt.

Congratulations go to Raymond Brouillett who has become the proud father of a bouncing baby boy. Ray is strutting around the place like a proud peacock.

Yours Truly is going on a vacation at long last. I'm taking off for the sights of Little Old New York, and will see you on my return. In the meantime, carry on. I hope you miss me a wee bit.

Trueheart looked good for Drury and this boy is only a sophomore. Drury has yet to score a victory this season.

Adams High broke into the win column on Saturday, October 15, when they eked out a 25-21 decision over Deerfield High. This game was replete with thrilling plays and although Adams led at the outset—Deerfield continually pressed and were a constant threat until the final gun sounded.

Although neither Drury or Adams have been very impressive this year, the annual clash between these traditional rivals should be a honey.

"Yankees Win World Series"

The N. Y. Yankees needed to play only 5 games with the Brooklyn Dodgers to win the World Title.

The pitching in the series surpassed the hitting which was very light over the first three games.

Twenty strikeouts were recorded in the opener by both pitchers—Reynolds and Newcombe. Extra base blows were a rarity.

The Yanks received steadier pitching as the Series progressed and the batting became more potent where as the fielding and hitting for the Dodgers seem to fade.

Ace relief hurler Joe Page was a great asset to the Yankees as had been the case during the current season.

Altogether it was a fairly good series and the Yankees were the better team and deserved the title for they withstood injuries, press predictions about collapsing, the belated surge of the Boston Red Sox, to come roaring back for the flag and the World Series Championship. Congratulations to the Yankees and all Yankee fans.

Williams College Football:

The "Purple", after winning an easy opener over Norwich fell before the onslaughts of a well-equipped Trinity eleven. The Williams team made it a real ball game for the first half and trailed by only a point—14-13.

The "Ephmen" started with a rush as they scored twice with lightning rapidity in the opening period. Meanwhile the Conn. boys had tallied once.

When the 2nd half opened Williams seemed to disintegrate and the walls came crumbling down as Trinity literally poured through a leaky defense to turn a tight-good ball game into a rout—Final score was 33-13.

Trinity has a great team this year and the consensus of opinions is that this club may enjoy an undefeated season. Just what caused the College town lads to blow up is a mystery to us, as we believe that Williams has a finer team than that score would indicate.

The following week Williams journeyed to Rochester and here they racked up their second win of the current season with a convincing 35-0 score.

In this contest Williams was superb. Once again in the opening periods this eleven was at its best when they rolled up and down the field to amass 35 points.

The second half was scoreless but it was continuous penalties that bogged down the offensive thrust. One additional score was nullified because of a detected off-side play. Altogether the Berkshire team was tagged with a near total of 100 yds. in penalties. All the boys who made the trip saw action.

However the "Purple" looked very good in this win as the blocking and tackling were the two improved factors while the backs were alert to all breaks that occurred during the course of the afternoon play.

In their most recent outing the Williams eleven played their banner game of the season when they buried a heavier foe—Bowdoin. The lads from Williamstown had an incentive for this game as their able Coach Len Watters was confined to his home under a Doctor's care. The "Purple" did themselves proud and played heads up ball throughout the game to rout their worthy adversary 33-0.

If the encounter with Bowdoin is a sample of the type of ball Williams plays for the rest of the season—the "Little Three Title" will be taken by the "Ephmen".

Yes-sir-fans—the "Purple are on the Move". The type of ball shown on Weston field is worthy of your patronage—believe me.

Alice, who was five years old, often ran errands for her mother. She went willingly if she could pronounce the name of the article wanted, but dreaded the laughter which greeted her attempts to pronounce certain words.

"Vinegar" was one of the hardest words of all. She never would go for it if she could help it, but one morning her mother found it necessary to send her. Entering the store the child handed the jug to the clerk and said: "Smell the jug and give me a quart."
